BUSY SUMMER SEASON ENDS FOR CADETS

Competition Keen In All Activities

The fifteenth annual Camp program ended on Saturday, September 21st after more than seven weeks of continuous water and land activity.

The large group of 1948 campers, hailing from many Eastern and nearby Middle-Western states, participated in approximately fifty different games, courses of instruction, and other scheduled events. During this period they not only had an opportunity to enjoy a grand and glorious vacation, but they learned many useful and valuable things that will stay with them throughout their lives.

Forty-five different awards were won by a total of 377 campers, many, of course, winning more than one award. Competition for these awards was extremely keen both in the Senior and Junior divisions alike.

Outstanding events of the summer season included the L.C.I. trip, excursions to Seaside, Carnival Night, fishing trips, and the annual visit to the Holiday House. Water-front activities naturally proved popular, and all of the Camp's fleet saw much action throughout the summer. Major activities engaged in were Sailing, Rifflery, Tennis, Ping Pong, Swimming, Track, Archery, Life Saving, Boxing, Wrestling, and the tests for various Seamanship rates. Rates earned included Apprentice Seaman, Seaman, Quartermaster, Junior Apprentice Seaman, Junior Seaman, and Junior Coxswain.

In the company competition race, first place in the Senior and Junior Divisions was won by the Senior First and the Junior First. The Combination First place went to the First Company.

you showed in endeavoring to aid your Company, and for the ability you showed to earn the respect of your fellow campers and counselors, you have been selected as the "Outstanding Senior Camper of the A. F. A. Summer Naval Camp, 1948."

Major Awards Given At Closing Formation

After seven weeks of competition in the below-listed activities the following campers emerged either victorious, or a close runnerup:

FOUR TOP CAMPERS RECEIVE AWARDS

Four campers were singled out for special honors at the final formation of the 1948 Camp in recognition of their outstanding work during their stay at Farragut.

Camper H. Stutzke scored the highest number of points in the Senior Division with a total of 350. J. Stevenson scored 328 points to place first in the Junior Division.

For the splendid progress he showed and for the ability demonstrated while participating with his company in inter-company events, and for earning the respect of his fellow campers and counselors, Cadet D. Donohue was awarded the "Outstanding Junior Camper Award."

Cadet Joseph Spatola was presented with the Outstanding Senior Camper Award, his citation reading as follows: "For the splendid cooperation, spirit and initiative you have shown in participating in all camp activities in which you as a Senior Summer Camper engaged; for the perseverance

The Superintendent's Message

With the close of the 1948 Camp season, I am sure that the effort which has been put forth to make your stay at Farragut a happy and profitable one, has been well worth while.

Farragut has endeavored to give you a well-rounded program that will be of benefit to you both physically and mentally and to combine this with competitive and beneficial recreation. I sincerely hope that this has been accomplished.

During your stay at Camp Farragut, you have experienced a form of training that I trust will remain with you in later years. I hope that you will always remember what you have learned here, to think straight and to follow through intelligently. Don't be afraid to reach out and take command when you have earned it. Remember to bring order and reason into your way of life, be punctual . . . be neat . . . be courteous . . . be industrious . . . be a good citizen.

To the Faculty, staff, and cadet Corps of the 1948 Camp, my very sincere congratulations on a job well done.

CADETS ENJOY DANCE AT HOLIDAY HOUSE AND CARNIVAL

One Tuesday night, forty Senior Campers and sixteen Junior Campers embarked in the L.C.V. (P.) and proceeded across the river to Island Heights. The cadets were dressed in their cleanest whiteworks to attend a dance given by the Girls' Friendly Society at Holiday House, which is one of the Society's camps. The cadets marched to the camp and fell out of ranks and went in. The Juniors played games while the Seniors danced. One of the highlights was a play "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." Jacque "Boggy" Dufour was Snow White, while some of the other characters were acted by Sam Heineman, John Ruseau, Ruth Adams, Jennie Halcombe, and Bonny Allen. After the dance the cadets left with the girls and walked them to the L.C.V.(P.) Then the cadets embarked and left, while the girls waved good-by at the beach.

The cadets, during the course of the summer also had the Holiday House girls at Farragut for the night of the Carnival. Among the activities were booths put up by the camp companies. We had such amusements as the wheel of fortune, games of chance, marble rolling, etc. The Academics too, had a dance in Clark Hall. The music was of the latest popular dance variety.

The Captain would like to give thanks to the Girl's Friendly Society at Holiday House for helping to boost the morale of our Cadet Corps.

JUNIOR SECOND

The Summer Camp is now over. We will be leaving, but not forgetting, the things that we did.

I would like to review the summer for us. On June 30th, we arrived. Almost all of us were strangers, some of us having never been away from home before. After a few days we were so occupied with the activities that we completely forgot home. We were terrific in swimming and won every meet. Our favorite activities were basketball, baseball, touch football, sailing, steal the bacon, and riflery.

Our day began at 0710, when we got up. We went to breakfast at 0730. After breakfast we cleaned our rooms and drilled until 0845. At that time we went to one of our three 45-minute periods in the morning. We played games until 1100 and then went for a swim. At 1200 we ate noon mess and afterwards rested until 1345. At this time we had another three camp periods and at 1600 optional period began. We could do whatever activity we chose until 1800 when we ate supper. After supper we were free until 1915 when we had activities such as boxing, wrestling, seamanship, lectures, games and movies. At 2030 we went to bed, ending a day at Farragut.

We would like to thank our counselor, Mr. Gallagher, for everything that he has done for us.

JUNIOR THIRD

Junior Company Three's first formation was on the day we arrived. It was the 30th of June and we were all new except three of the campers. At first, Junior Three didn't know what to do, but in about a week they caught on. The second week they were all ready to start fighting for the Company. The company was divided into two groups, five and six.

Every camper thinks that bombardment and basketball are the games we like the best. The track record is very good. For the high jump the record of five feet was made. In the fifty-yard dash one cadet did it in 7.3 seconds. The record for the standing broad jump is six feet three inches. Besides these things, sailing is a sport that we like. We are all indebted to the men who supervise the games; Mr. Gallagher, Mr. Hayes, and Lt. Swagert.

Most of us are seamen and are working our way higher with the aid of Mr. Chapin, who is our seamanship counselor. All of us take turns in the wherry races. So far we have lost one and won one. Many of us like to take rowboats out during optional period; some of like to play basketball, some tennis; some swim, and still others like the canteen best of all. Whenever the Junior Third is they are always fighting for their company, Junior Company Three.

SUMMER CAMP COMPANY LOG

SENIOR FIRST

Well, fellows, the Fighting First has done it again. Yep! we are on our way to win everything. We have a marvelous crew, and such great basketball players as Stutzke, Boyer and McCarthy in Platoon A, and McHugh, Britt, and Schaffer in Platoon B. Both Platoons were excellent in everything. Our opposition trembled when we played them. Naturally, we had teamwork all the way.

Our Company wasn't made up of stars but just ordinary fellows who clicked as a team.

We have drill three times a week and have become very good. Of course we weren't so good at first but everything turned out okay after a while.

Our seamanship really aided the Company. Glasberg and Schlobohm have become quartermasters and Beller and Plager have become seamen, while almost everyone has an apprentice rate.

Our boxing and wrestling were tops. We had Wisotzky, Brecht, and Emerson slugging it out all the way.

We were slippery eels in the water too.

We all have tried our best and want to thank Mr. Miles for everything that he has done for us.

Well, that's all for this year fellows. I'm sure that we will get together again and the "Fighting First" will do as well, and better in future years. "Good luck, Gang."

SENIOR SECOND

When the cadets first fell into formation there must have been some doubt in the minds of the "oldsters" as to the marching ability of the new campers. But as time passed, the new cadets got their "sea legs" and learned to present a fair military appearance. John Ruseau commands the Second Company, Senior, and Louis Markowitz stands in the sub-company commander's spot; "Windy" Curran represents the "Roaring Second" on the Battalion staff. "Mac" McCaffree and Jay Gentszch command Platoons C and D, respectively, and Bob Pallme is CPO in charge of mustering the cadets. After many trials and tribulations these officers succeeded in whipping the "Roaring Second" into a well trained company.

At personal inspections Company Two has done itself proud, taking the Battalion honors on several different occasions. At first, certain cadet's fears of losing their "lovely locks" almost forfeited our chances at the Saturday inspections but now most of us have become accustomed to the camp haircut.

On the athletic fields the "Roaring Second" has held its own but has had a hard time because of the absence, during certain periods, of its academic members. Thanks to "Windy" Curran and Bob Pallme, the "Roaring Second" has taken two sailing races and never placed less than second in the races. Our swimming squad, composed mainly of Curran and Heineman, has been "bringing home the bacon," winning two meets and placing second in two. Congrats, fellows; keep up the good work.

SENIOR THIRD

As we assembled for the first time on the parade grounds, each and everyone of us was a stranger. Soon after, we began to intermingle, and our greatest test of unity was when we played our first camp game. Our platoons were not equally balanced, because F had the slight edge over E. But did this bother us? No, sirree; we went on to show the other companies that they were going to have a tough time when they came up against us.

Among us were a few Academics, whose presence we missed greatly during the week-day games. But on the week-ends, they came and played with us, helping to pave our way to victory. There are a few exceptional cadets in our company: They are Stephens, Mayer, Hounslea, Harper, Baker, Buckingham, Chlebowski, and Cohen, B. These boys seemed to pull the team together, never forgetting once what our goal was. We had a stroke of bad luck in the wrestling and boxing division, but where we lost out we made up for in track, softball, basketball, and camp ball. Camp ball was our greatest asset, because we were undefeated.

But to whom do we owe all this honor and glory? Yes, it is to our instructor and guide, Lt. Willis. Thanks a lot, sir, for your generous help. You were repaid by our victories, at any rate. We also want to thank our company commander, Jack Dufour, for his able leadership.

JUNIOR FIRST

On June 30th we arrived at Farragut for seven weeks of play. For some of us it was the first season, for others the second, or the third season, but for most of us it won't be the last season. For a while we were meek, quiet, homesick, and afraid, but after a few days we forgot all this because there were many other things to do which we liked. We have had our ups and downs, but for the most part, we have been mainly going up as our Company is winning the inspections.

In personal inspection we usually show up the other companies. In sports we like to play basketball, volleyball, steal the bacon, and bombardment. What most of us enjoy is to be on the waterfront. During our waterfront periods we learn how to sail and to row boats. After we can sail well enough the dock officers allow us to take out sail boats alone without an instructor. Everyone is wearing a seamanship stripe on his sleeve as it shows a lot of hard work.

We are deeply indebted to Mr. Hayes who is our counselor, and who has made us what we are today. Wherever you go there is a Junior Company One camper leading the way.

LCI (G) PROVIDES THRILL FOR CAMPERS ON OUTING

The L.C.I. left the Academy at 0945 for Barnegat Bay. It slowly drifted from the dock, turned around and started pushing its way up the river. Passing Island Heights provided a beautiful sight to behold from the ship! Just then those on board heard a whistle that meant inspection. Lt. Commander Bobo stepped up and formed two parties, and a careful inspection was made. After this, Lt. Commander Bobo took them up to the conning tower to see how the ship was run. He demonstrated the compass and told them a few interesting things about it. From up here they could see a line forming for Mess, so everybody went down and got something to eat.

After Mess they went down and saw the engine room with eight huge Diesel engines. Then, all the boys who had fishing rods went fishing. After fishing for about an hour, the anchor was hoisted and we started for home. On the way back a lot of the boys got to steer the ship for a while. A few of the cadets started signalling other ships and boats by semaphore, which is a method of signalling using the arms in letters. Some ships started signalling back to them.

Then they passed the old, burnt-out railroad bridge. It was a tight fit, but they made it. They came around the channel and into Toms River. They sailed up the river, and here slowed the engines to one-third speed and pulled into the slip. There was a cadet on every piling to catch the lines. The L.C.I. slowly pushed its way up on the sand, but then had to pull out a little bit so that it would be off the sand. As they pulled out, three ropes broke on the port side and one broke on the starboard side. It took us about forty-five minutes to tie up the ship. After that we had to fall back in our platoon, and Lt. Commander Bobo read off our names as we marched off the ship.

Waterfront News

To the average camper at Farragut the Waterfront is very important. About one-quarter of a camper's activities are participated in at the waterfront. Such things as rowing, sailing, swimming, and the general seamanship that a cadet learns, are all waterfront activities. There are fishing trips in the 36-foot L.C.V.P., and cruises on the 157-foot L.C.I. (G) 538, which is the School's flagship. The fleet also includes six whaleboats, three sailing cutters, a sculling sampan, three sloop-rigged knockabouts, six large Marconi-Rigged 18-foot Catboats, six small gaff-rigged sneak boxes, and various other craft. These boats are kept in shape by "Matt" Shaw, the boatman, who is doing an excellent job. Under Commander N. F. Reinhard, Chief Stevenson is in direct charge of the waterfront, ably assisted by Chiefs Baker and Fairchild. Mr. Cooke is in charge of the swimming classes, and is assisted by Sam Brown.

One of the main activities of the waterfront is sailing, and the Intercompany sailing races have always caused much excitement, with "Windy" Curran of the Second, winning five out of the first six races and hoping for a victory in the final competitions. Tom Schlobohm, whose crew, Tony Bodin, is an expert who races his own boat at home, and Sam Heineman III, follow close behind. Sam has had some bad luck in the last two races, forgetting a buoy in one, thus dropping from second to fifth, and fouling another boat in the second race; but Sam showed great sportsmanship by dropping from the race. Tom Schlobohm has also had some bad luck. While in one race without Tony as crew, he lost a headstay and rammed another boat sailed by "Windy" Curran. All in all, a keen sense of competition and fairness has been displayed.

TWO CADETS GRADUATE FROM 1948 SUMMER SCHOOL

Two holdover cadets from the 1947-48 Winter School successfully completed their courses of academic work this summer and were awarded diplomas as graduates of Admiral Farragut Academy.

Both graduates, Andrew Coccia and Bill Buckingham, plan to enter college in the fall now that their academic requirements have been fulfilled. Buckingham captained the wrestling team last winter and was very active in all inter-company athletics. Andy managed the varsity baseball squad and will be particularly remembered for his friendliness.
