Harry Norris Dies Suddenly, July 13th

LT Harry E. Norris, tactical officer and a member of the Academy Staff since 1936, died suddenly while on duty at the Academy on July 13. He was 69.

Born in Suffern, New York, LT Norris resided in Beachwood, making his home there since 1923. At one time he was as-sociated with the American Hard Rubber Co., of College Point, L.I., New York. A World War I veteran, he was a member of the American Legion for more than 25 continuous years.

He first served as a deck supervisor at the Academy, but later moved on to the Naval Science Department's tactical staff. His primary duties over the years included serving as custodian of the Armory and government equipment assigned to the Academy, instructor in riflery, coach of the varsity rifle team, Rooms and Personnel inspector, and watch squad duty assign-ments and supervisor.

During World War II he was active in the local defense program, training and drilling men in basic military preparedness. He also served as an approved National Rifle Association instructor, teaching and testing men who wished to qualify for membership in that organization.

LT Norris is survived by his wife, Ella A. ices. Intermetwo sons, Major William J., Dover Air Toms River.

'41 Grad Hopes To Be Here For Dedication

The new Cadet Activities Building, which is scheduled for completion by December 1st, will be named the Alan B. Shepard, Hall, in honor of America's first astronaut.

The decision to name the building after the 1941 Farragut graduate was made sev-eral months ago by the Academy's Board of Trustees. However, the announcement of this decision was reserved until Commander Shepard could be notified and his approval obtained.

In March of this year the Parents' As-sociation, sponsor of the building project, had asked the Academy officials to find an appropriate name for the structure. Several names, mostly of famous naval heroes, had been suggested and were being considered, but when Shepard made his successful sub-orbital flight into space on May 5th, members of the Academy Staff, Alumni, Parents, and Cadets felt that the Shepard name would be a logical and ideal choice.

Captain W. K. Russell, president of the Board of Trustees, put it this way:

"Not only is Commander Shepard's flight an outstanding achievement in America's manned space program, but it is a significant, historical fact of worldwide importance. Further, he typifies every-thing embodied in the Academy's mission. A graduate of Annapolis, an officer and a gentleman in true naval tradition, and a man who seems to love his God, his home, and his Country above all else, he is imbued with honor, moral courage, uprightness, and truth.

"Another outstanding quality of the humble spirit of the man is typified by what he said when giving his approval to name the building Shepard Hall:

"I am indeed honored by the expressed desire of the Board of Trustees, the Alumni Association, and the Parents' Association to name the new Activities Building for me. I hope that my activities, rather than my name will serve as an inspiration for all present and future Cadets."

The Headmaster, Captain R. O. Dodge, revealed that Commander Shepard has expressed a sincere hope that he can be present for the dedication exercises, which will be held some time during the early part of 1962. Plans call for moving into the building while the Corps is home on Christmas leave, and having it read-for use when the Cadets return.

Harry Ellsworth Norris

Writing a conventional news story about Harry Ellsworth Norris is not a very difficult assignment. By checking out the various sources where records are kept, talking to his colleagues at work, and remembering his activities from personal observations and experiences, enough basic and factual information can be gathered to produce an acceptable story.

Trying to produce an "editorial" about the man, his personality, and his influence on all those Farragut men who knew him, is something else. How does one begin to capture and describe the twenty-five year span that embraced Harry Norris' tenure at Farragut?

Known as "Sarge," "The Sheriff," "Cap," and "Mistuh," each of these names held some form of respect and admiration . . . yes, even love, for him by the different eras represented by the Alumni of the past years. His ever-present pipe, his keen appreciation of a good cigar, and his distinctive posture and stride form an indelible picture on the minds of those fortunate to have known him.

His down-to-earth common sense and forthrightness, his ever-ready willingness to be helpful to a troubled boy with a problem, and his attempt to inspire young Farragut Cadets to a good, clean, and honorable way of life, were attributes for which he will always be remembered.

He could be kind, stern, and demanding. He was noted for his "routines" and the orderly way he performed his duties. He took particular pride in his armory and rifle range, and they always had their best foot forward in appearance.

Yes, the man is gone, but his spirit will always live in the hearts and minds of "his boys." Perhaps the highest compliment that could be paid to him is that he was the kind of man to whom parents could entrust their sons with confidence.

Next to his family, Farragut was the thing nearest and dearest to his heart.

School Renews Pledge

With the beginning of another school year on September 17th, Farragut embarks on its twenty-ninth year of existence.

Founded during the depths of depression, the Academy has grown into one of the Nation's leading educational institutions. The principles and philosophies that were adopted by the founders in 1933, calling for a strong academic program above everything else, have paid dividends in the form of an outstanding record of achievement by the School's Alumni.

As a new Corps of Cadets takes form this year, it might be well to pause for a moment and recall the mission to which Farragut is dedicated:

"With the conviction that the duty of the School is far greater than that of merely imparting knowledge to youthful minds, Admiral Farragut Academy seeks to develop in each Cadet those qualities that go toward making a worthwhile citizen. Each graduate must have a thorough knowledge of the ground work of the arts and sciences, and at the same time must be a young gentleman imbued with honor, moral courage, uprightness and truth; and one who has a deep and everlasting love for God, country and home." "But more important than dollars contributed is the steady growth in interest and school loyalty."

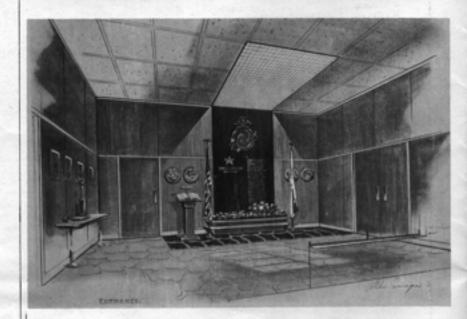

> RAVEN O. DODGE Captain A.F.A. Headmaster

I would like to take the occasion of the Alumni Secretary's report on the 14th Alumni Fund to send to all Farragut Alumni a few words of thanks and commendation for the support which you have given. Preoccupied, as I'm sure you are, with the affairs of daily living, the contribution you made (or perhaps didn't) may have seemed not too important. In the aggregate, however, they are tremendously important and becoming increasingly so for you as an alumnus, for your Alumni Association, and for your School. On behalf of the Academy, I want to thank each of you.

I am sure it is gratifying to you, as it is to me, that the Alumni Association, through its Annual Alumni Fund, is becoming a more vital part of Farragut. In the past few years this has been evident through the increased help given for such special projects as the building fund, the library fund, and the Headmaster's Discretionary Fund. The Student Aid Fund, too, has shown good growth. These activities contribute much to Farragut's status and progress, and their potential is unlimited.

But more important than the dollars contributed is the steady growth in interest and school loyalty. This is evidenced by the drive and hard work of Phil Hurt, your President, which has spread to all Association officers, as well as Alumni. It is further evidenced by the greater number who contributed to the 14th Alumni Fund and by the larger amount of the average gift. And I hope it will be further evident in a record attendance at Homecoming this fall on October 28. It will be a real pleasure for all of us here at Farragut to welcome each of you again. Make your plans now to be with us, and until then, many thanks and very best wishes.

MEMORIAL LOBBY — This artist's conception of the Alumni Memorial Lobby, to be located in the new Activities Building, was done by Attilio Sinagra '36, a New York City illustrator. Room will be panelled in walnut, and will have a flagstone floor and acoustical tiled ceiling. A large wall panel will form the actual memorial, on which will be a seal of the Academy and the individual names of the 26 Alumni who lost their lives in World War II and in Korea. American and School flags will flank the planter below the wall panel, and coats of arms of the various branches of the armed forces will be on the walls.

Douglas C. Dean, Former Staff Member Dies

Douglas C. Dean, former English De-partment Head and Acting Headmaster, died after a long illness on July 29th, at the Lankenau Hospital in Philadelphia. He had been a member of the Academy Staff from 1935 to 1944. Mr. Dean was featured in the last issue of the Capstan when he recalled having taught Commander Alan B. Shepard while a Cadet here.

He had been with the Philco Corporation for the past seventeen years, where he was Manager of the TechRep De-partment. He is survived by his wife, Dear Fellow Alumni:

'Progress is our most important product." So says the General Electric Company, and few would debate the importance of progress.

Progress is very important to your Alumni Association, too, and I'm very happy to report that the 14th Alumni Fund made progress in every category and went "over the top" by almost $400.

This means that your Association will accomplish handily all of the objectives it set for itself this year. It also means that we can now raise our sights towards even more progress for the coming year.

With the continued fine support of the Alumni, and from Past Parents, as well, your organization can expect to accomplish even more substantial goals in the future, especially in the direction of aid to deserving prospective students who will undoubtedly bring credit to our School, both in the classroom and on the playing field.

A heartfelt thank you is in order for each of those who participated in the 14th Fund drive, and to Al Frank 47, chairman, and Mel Hellem '59, Class Trustee, for a particularly fine, "Well Done."

To those Alumni who contributed this year, my sincere appreciation for your support. To those who, for one reason or another, did not contribute, my earnest recommendation for your support of the 15th Fund, thereby participating in your Association's very worthy programs.

Sincerely, Philip Hurt '38 President

Alumni Homecoming Set For Oct. 28th; 36 Class Will Observe 25th Anniversary

Alumni Homecoming Day-1961 style-will be held on Saturday, October 28th, according to William A. Brune '45, chairman.

A special Homecoming Day Committee met at the Academy on July 31 and drafted a program for the one-day reunion.

Special emphasis will be placed on Reunion Classes of 1936, 1941, 1946, 1951, and 1956, which will be observing their 25th, 20th, 15th, 10th, and 5th graduation anniversaries. For the first time, a time and place has been set aside for official photographs of these groups. Alumni Sec-retary Bill Masciangelo will be in charge of this particular event.

Also, an area, displaying glasses, com-memorative plates, and chairs sold by the Alumni Association, will be part of the pro-gram for those visitors interested in pur-chasing them. Bob Plennert '53 will handle this assignment in Farragut Hall.

Registration will begin at 10:00 a.m. in Farragut Hall, under the direction of Joe Shepherd '41. The Registration fee will be $1.50 per person, which includes a ticket for the luncheon, but which does not include cocktails at the get-together in the afternoon.

Arrangements will also be made to open more buildings and facilities for inspec-tion by Alumni and their guests. The Committee is hopeful this can be held between 10:00 a.m. and 2 p.m.

After the regular annual meeting in the DuPont Hall auditorium at 11:30, a luncheon will be served in the Farragut Hall Reception room, beginning at 12:30 p.m. Garet Pilling '53 will be chairman of this particular part of the program.

The Corps will parade in a special forma-The Corps will parade in a special forma-tion at 2:00 p.m., at which time the Alumni assembled "on the line" will take the re-view. Several awards will be made at this time by President Phil Hurt '38, as well as the playing of taps in memory of LCDR C. E. Shappell and LT Harry E. Norris. Paul R. Van Mater '42 will head this event.

After the game with Pingry School, the "Post Game Huddle" will be held at Peterson's Charcoal Hearth, Lakewood, during which time refreshments will be available. This will be followed by dining and dancing from approximately 6 to

Alumnus Is Appointed To Public Relations Post

William F. Dwyer II '52, has been appointed director of radio and television for the Astro Agency, Inc., Rochester, New York, public relations firm. In his new position, Dwyer will direct the production of the agency's public relations materials for use on radio and tele-vision stations. He also will be special promotion consultant to the agency's clients,

Dwyer has been a broadcaster in the Rochester area for seven years. He was with WGVA, Geneva, N. Y. in 1954-55 before joining the staff of WBBF, Rochester. Prior to his appointment with the Astro-Astronauth of the Staff of Stafford Staff the Astro Agency, he was with Station WHAM.

After graduating from Farragut as valedictorian of his class, Bill attended Prince-ton University and the U. of Rochester. Active in civic and political affairs in Rochester, he was cited earlier this year by the Strategic Air Command for a series of broadcasts which he produced during a one week visit to SAC installations through-out the United States.

Bill lives with his wife, Eleanor, and their two children at 264 Ayrault Road, Perinton, New York.

"If's" Surround Fate Of "Big Blue" Season

A number of big "Ifs" surround this year's varsity football squad, which is scheduled to open its season in an away contest against Peddie on October 7th.

The big "Ifs" center around Coach Stan

Slaby's ability to find a good back or two, around which to build an offense.

Rich Rissel and Bill Masciangelo, last year's quarterbacks who shared signal-calling and passing duties, will provide the team with an advantage from the start. Tom Hayes, who saw a fair amount of action in 1960, and who should be stronger on defense than as a runner, will be the only other veteran back to return.

Coach Slaby hopes to move veteran Adin Brown, 6-2, 185 lb. end, to the fullback slot in order to beef up that department. However, the El Paso, Texas, youngster However, the El Paso, Texas, youngster hasn't had any backfield experience and his ability there will be a question mark until he has had an opportunity to perform.

Other backs from last season are Kurt

Kiefer and Tom Edenfield.

The line is another "If," and could develop into a fairly strong unit, but lack of experience might be a deterrent to its ability to cope effectively with other forward walls.

Potentials from last year include: Ted Howell, center; Bryant Crouse and Dick Bailey, guards; Jeff Miller, Earl Knight, Cy Radford, and Charlie Middleton, tackles; Bill Moore and Herb Robinson, ends.

Coach Slaby is working his tenth season as a coach this year, and is being assisted by Lew Speck, line mentor for three sea-sons, and Bob Madden, who will be a general assistant.

Madden is beginning his first year at Farragut, teaching Spanish and assisting in football and basketball. He is a graduate of the U. of Havana, having first prepared himself to teach physical education, but later majored in Sugar Chemistry.

Mr. Madden was a member of the 1952 Cuban Olympic team, and then became a coach of the 1958 Olympic squad. He has been a coach, teacher, and director of athletics in Cuban Schools for the past fourteen years.

Sunday, October 15th, has been designated Parents' Day at A.F.A., at which time the regular fall meeting of the Parents' Association will be held.

Normally, a chapel service for Parents and Cadets is held in the morning, followed by the business meeting of the Associa-tion. Joseph D. Ardleigh, president, will preside. After a period, during which the Academy facilities are open for inspection by the visitors, Cadets are usually permit-ted to "dine out" with the parents.
